

What's the class about?

What you'll see happening in class:

You'll play, sign, and sing. Your little one will learn sign language faster when she's having fun—and playing with you. So we'll sing songs and insert the sign as we say the words, play with toys, and help her learn both the spoken word and the sign.

You'll see parents and their children learning to communicate. When your child is chasing a soap bubble or asking for the ball, you'll make the sign for it, and say the word. So she has three ways to associate the word with the object: she holds the ball, she hears you say the word, and she sees you make the sign.

You'll learn a lot, too. You'll learn to spot your baby's most “teachable moments,” and you'll learn the sign language teaching methods of the experts, such as making the sign in front of a child, on your child's body, or when she looks up at you in wonder as if to ask, “What's that?” Plus you'll learn to recognize and respond to your child's versions of signs.

Why you'll both love the At Home Materials:

Family Activity Guide—This 14-page guide shows you sign language games you can play around the house. Plus you'll find helpful keys written by the experts, developmental information, song lyrics, and music charts.

DVD—A glossary of more than 60 signs showing playful imagery of children and adults using sign language.

Clip-on Flash Cards—36 flash cards for diaper bags and backpacks. Each features a photo of both children and adults using family-friendly American Sign Language signs.
